INDEPENDENCE DAY CELEBRATION.

Will A. Knighten Will Be Orator of the Day. Magnificent Program of Sports.

Will A. Knighten of Los Angeles, a speaker of note, will deliver the address to Covina citizens on Saturday, July 3rd, at the big celebration to be held here. The Independence Day program will be held under tents on the vacant lot at the corner of Badillo and Citrus avenues, where the inbound Pacific Electric cars stop.

Major C. F. Clapp of the Covina Canton, I.O.O.F., has arranged fully for the entertainment of companies of uniform rank of this order from Los Angeles, Pasadena, Pomona, Santa Ana, and Covina, and the drill, inspection and parade of these bodies will be one of the principal features of the day.

A baseball parade, relay race and mile and a half bicycle race will also be distinct features.

The Rebekahs and ladies of the M. E. Church will serve a chicken dinner at 12 and 6 o'clock to the visitors.

A grand military ball takes place in the evening.

The merchants of Covina will keep open house all day, and have arranged special bargain prices on goods. It will in all likelihood be one of the biggest trading days the town has ever experienced.

The full program is as follows:

STARTING AT 9 A. M.

1. 100 yard dash (open to all boys under 14 years of age).
2. Sack race (open to everyone).
3. 1½ mile bicycle race, starting at Nash's drug store, going along Badillo to Hollenbeck, then north to San Bernardino road, east to Citrus, and finishing at the starting point (open to all riders).
4. Girls' race, 50 yard dash (open).
5. 100 yard dash (limited to Covina entries).
6. High jump (open event).
7. Broad jump (open event).
8. 220 yard dash (open event).
9. Potato race (open).
10. Shot-put (open).
11. Tag o' war (matched teams that pulled against each other on May Day).
12. Grand relay race (Covina vs. Azusa). Competing teams to be chosen from best five runners chosen by tryout.

11 TO 12 O'CLOCK.

Speech by Will A. Knighten of Los Angeles. Music by the high school band.

1 O'CLOCK.

The baseball parade will form at the corner of Citrus and College avenues, and will march to the baseball park south of town. Arrangements have been made to have the road thoroughly sprinkled, and conveyances will be in readiness to take passengers back and forth at a nominal charge. The game will be called promptly at 1:30 o'clock, and will be between the well known local aggregation and some team of the Southern State League.

For the people who do not care for baseball, the shady high school campus will furnish a comfortable place to watch some good tennis matches. A musical entertainment is also being arranged for those wishing that form of recreation.

4 P. M.

The five teams of the uniform rank of the I.O.O.F. will drill on the vacant lot at the corner of Citrus avenue and Badillo street. The crowd will have ample time to return from the ball ground, and will find comfortable seats arranged under awnings, for their accommodation during the drill.

Births.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Robins of Baldwin Park, June 12, a daughter.
Born to Mr. and Mrs. Don Guerrero, June 3, a son.
Born to Mr. and Mrs. C. Fraijo, a daughter.

SONGS OF PROMISE.

Easter Hymns and Wealth of Flowers Characterize Funeral of Mrs. Fletcher.

The funeral on Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock of Mrs. Charlotte (Dundas) Fletcher, wife of Rev. Alfred Fletcher, pastor of the Church of the Holy Trinity (Episcopal) was attended by a throng of friends and townspeople, who held the woman in the highest esteem.

The church was filled to overflowing. Floral tributes, coming from friends who had known her in many towns of Southern California where she has assisted her husband in parish work, blanketed the front of the church, giving fragrant, beautiful testimony to an appreciation of Mrs. Fletcher's good works in this life. A vested choir of twenty voices rendered hymns which were favorites of the deceased, and which were bright with the promise of Easter tide and the resurrection, rather than funeral in selection.

Bishop J. H. Johnson of the diocese of Los Angeles conducted the services, assisted by Dr. A. G. Trew, D. D., of Los Angeles. The bearers were past and present members of the vestry. The funeral cortege bore the body to Oakdale cemetery, where the rites of committing the body to the earth were carried out by Bishop Johnson and Dr. Trew.

FLORA AINSWORTH FOLLETTE.

Beautiful Christian Character Passes On After Two Months of Illness.

The funeral of Mrs. Flora Ainsworth Follette, mother of Mrs. W. H. Collins of Charter Oak, was held at the Church of the Holy Trinity (Episcopal) Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Murphy of Los Angeles officiated, assisted by the church pastor, Rev. Alfred Fletcher. A vested choir sang two appropriate hymns. The church was filled with relatives and friends, and the floral tributes were numerous and beautiful. The body was interred in Oakdale cemetery. Mrs. Follette had been a keen sufferer for two months, during which time she underwent special treatment in a Los Angeles hospital. She was removed to the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. H. Collins, where she died early on Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Follette was born in Circleville, Ohio, 67 years ago. It was in Hastings, Minnesota, that she was married, and lived there for some time, going from there with her husband to Minneapolis. She came from Minneapolis to Covina and made her home here for several years, afterwards moving to Long Beach, Los Angeles, Rivera, Ontario and other cities. Mrs. Follette leaves three daughters, Mrs. W. H. Hanson of Cheshamville, N. D., Mrs. J. J. Windle of New York City and Mrs. W. H. Collins of Covina, and one son, George Follette of Long Beach. All her life Mrs. Follette was a devout member of the Episcopal Church, and her beautiful, Christian character was well known and appreciated by all who came in contact with her life.

Notice.

No fireworks, fire-crackers or other noise-producing articles will be allowed within the city limits until further notice. This order must be obeyed.

Per order,
City Marshal Mehnert.

Stanton & Harnish Make Sales.

Stanton & Harnish report the sale of 18 acres of land belonging to Bert Rogers, situated on Arroyo avenue, near the pumping plant at Walnut Center, to H. E. Lougheed of Walnut avenue. The place is planted to potatoes. Team and farm implements were included in the sale. The consideration was $7900 cash.

The game firm also reports the sale of a 19 acre grove near San Dimas to J. W. Gilman of South Dakota; consideration, $29,999, all cash.

SUCCESS CROWNS INTEGRITY.

Warner, Whitsel & Company Occupies Mammoth Store on Site of Humble Beginning.

Seventeen years ago, E. P. Warner and his brother, Carl M. Warner, scraped together a small stock of groceries and started business in Covina, on what is now known as Citrus avenue. On Thursday of this week the firm of Warner, Whitsel & Company moved back on the old location—moved to the same spot occupied seventeen years ago.

But there is quite a little difference in the size of the firm and the building the firm occupies. When Warner went into business he considered that ten dollars in gross receipts for one day was doing well. The valley was very thinly settled. There were no railroads. It was hard work to reach the people for delivery. The store was an extremely small one and transacted business from hand to mouth.

This week the firm moved into a big building of their own after having worked up the largest grocery business in the upper San Gabriel valley. Fifteen hundred people passed through the store doors in the afternoon, people who came to inspect the Warner, Whitsel & Company store, and be the guests of the firm for its opening. No goods were sold on this day, and the clerks busied themselves only with entertaining the people. Fruit punch was served continuously, while an orchestra dispensed music in the rear of the salesroom. The Bishop cracker company gave away hundreds of boxes of their delectable lit-crackers and demonstrated in ket-chups and jellies. The Hass-Baruch wholesale grocery company of Los Angeles sent a beautiful horseshoe of vari-colored carnations as a goodwill tribute, and the store was otherwise decorated tastefully. Members of the firm assisted in entertaining the crowds, with their wives also doing much to make the people of Covina and environs feel perfectly at home.

The Warner, Whitsel Company now has one of the largest stores of its kind in Southern California outside of the large cities. An enormous stock has been secured to start off the business in the new quarters. Many up-to-date contrivances in the store were shown to visitors, among which was the patent automatic measuring machine on the second floor, which weighs out sugar and other material of a like kind, and an electric elevator, running from the basement to the top of the building. A suite of offices on the second floor overlooks the ground floor. Mr. Warner's private office is connected with the bookkeeping and stenographic room, both offices commanding a view of the floor below. A waiting room for ladies has been installed. A perfect system of shelving goods is one of the modern features, and the show cases are all new and of the most sanitary type.

The new building is owned by R. F. Butler, who leases it to Warner, Whitsel & Company for a term of years on a basis of interest on capital invested.

The company teams now cover the entire Covina valley each day, both with the regular grocery wagons and the bread and pastry wagon.

The members of the firm cordially invite anyone who was not able to be present at the opening to come to the store, where they will be shown over the new building.

The new building is also a credit to the builder, Contractor Clarence Allison, Covina's pioneer contractor and builder.

ROWLAND

The wedding of Solomon H. Geer of the Rowland Mercantile Company and Miss Ella Fleming, sister of F. F. Fleming, also a partner in the Mercantile Company, took place at noon on Thursday of last week at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Fleming of Hollywood. The wedding is of especial interest to the residents of Puente Valley, who know the unusual romance that preceded it.

Six years ago Miss Fleming's parents owned one of the largest walnut groves in Rivera, and one day while watching the nuts being sacked for shipping, Miss Fleming playfully remarked to her sister that she believed she would send a message to her husband. Accordingly, she enclosed her name and address in an empty shell and put it among the nuts about to be shipped. In Buffalo, South Carolina, a young man, who was named Solomon Geer, while displaying his supply of walnuts to a customer, noticed the message and showed it to the merchant. He then sent it to his sister, who in turn sent it to her husband. They were married in the North Carolina town of Rivera, where they now reside.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. DeMandel left on Monday for Catalina Island, where they will spend the summer.

Miss Jessica Brown of Toledo, Ohio, was a guest last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Devendorf.

Last week, George Lee, the small son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Lee of York Ellen street, met with a painful accident while playing baseball at the Lower Azusa school. He was struck with a bat and his scalp badly cut.

Mrs. Mills of Los Angeles was a recent guest of Mrs. C. O. Ross.

Mr. and Mrs. Barber and Mrs. Ar Day of Norwalk were guests of the first of the week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Lee.

On Thursday, Mrs. Frank Phares of Park Place, who attended the first of the week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Lee, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Rebham.

northern state to see the young lady with whom he had exchanged letters. Later he made several trips to California to visit at the Fleming home. In January he purchased an interest in the Rowland Mercantile Company and took up his residence in Rowland. Following the wedding ceremony, which took place Thursday, the young couple left for a short wedding journey. They arrived at their new home in Rowland Monday evening and were serenaded by their neighbors and friends, who have taken a lively interest in their courtship.

PUENTE.

The body of Adolph Rambaud, who in partnership with his brothers, John and Joseph, owns a large tract of land between Puente and Walnut Center, was found in a field at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon. At noon Mr. Rambaud seemed in his usual good health. His death is supposed to have been due to heart failure. The funeral service was held at St. Joseph's Church at 10 a. m. Tuesday, after which the body was taken to New Calvary cemetery, Los Angeles, for burial. Mr. Rambaud was in the thirty-sixth year of his age and was unmarried. His brother, John Rambaud and family, left a month ago for France, where they are now visiting. The deceased is also survived by a cousin, E. Rambaud, a merchant of this place.

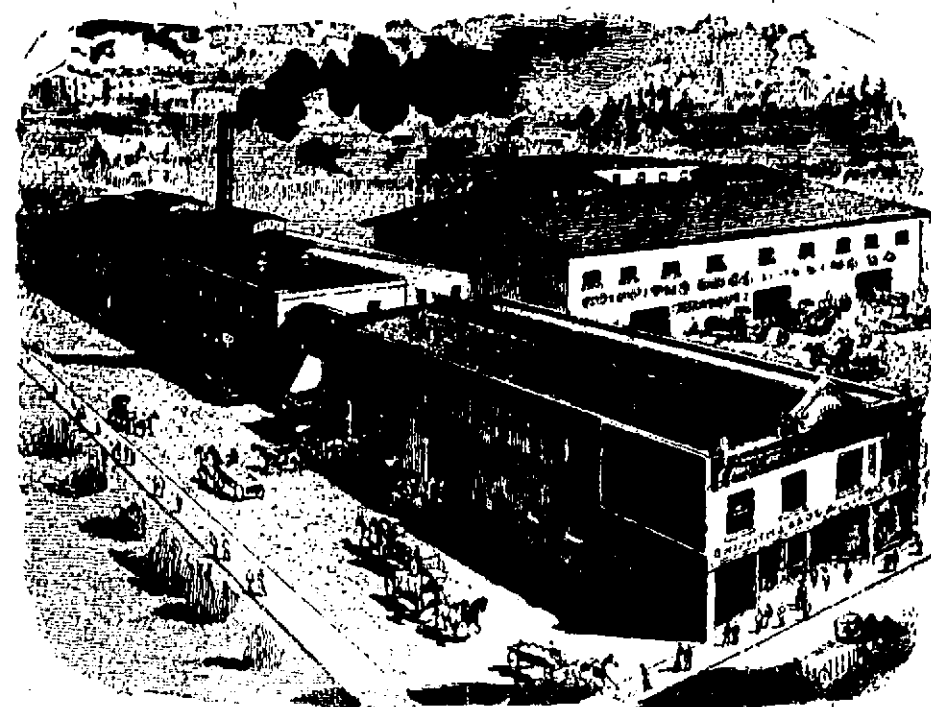

This week J. W. Hudson sold to S. J. Trueblood of Covina 200 acres of land lying south of the Salt Lake railroad track.

Riley Gillenwater, one of the rural free delivery mail carriers, accompanied by his wife, left this week to spend his vacation in Pomona. During his absence, Whitcomb Hudson will have charge of his route. Upon his return Mr. Gillenwater will purchase an automobile to use in delivering the mail.

Last Friday afternoon the pupils of the Puente grammar school entertained their friends and relatives. The scholars and their guests took part in all kinds of games and races, and the merry-making lasted until nearly dark. The little hosts served dainty refreshments.

California Progressive in Forest Pro-

California took another step in its effort to promote the practice of forestry within the state when Governor Gillett signed the bill providing for the creation of county boards of forestry. This bill authorizes the county supervisors to appoint a board of forestry, whose secretary shall be a trained forester. Such forester shall have power to enforce the provisions of the act, and all lawful orders of the forestry board, and in addition is vested with the powers of a peace officer to make arrests on the law.

The county board of forestry is granted exclusive power to decide upon the variety, character and kind of trees, hedges and shrubs that shall be planted upon county roads, highways, grounds and property, and to determine all questions respecting the pruning, cutting and removal of all trees, hedges and shrubs, and the extent and manner in which such work shall be done.

A violation of any of the provisions of the act shall be deemed a misdemeanor. A special fund was also created to be made up of any penalties incurred through a violation of the provisions of this act, and all moneys thus received shall be available to cover the expenses of the board.

This law was the direct result of the work accomplished by Riverside County, which has, for some time, maintained a paid forester to look after the setting out and caring for trees within the county. The results obtained in that county were so satisfactory that it was thought desirable to extend the scope of the work to other localities.

Christian Science Committee on Publication for the State of California
May 15, 1909

Editor Covina Argus, Covina, Cal.
Dear Sir:—In your issue of May 8th appeared an article entitled "Divine Healing," being part of an address by Rev. Sumner T. Martin. As he, incidentally described the Christian Science method of healing, I wish you would kindly publish this correction.

The good pastor falls into the error common to so many who have not studied Christian Science, that he teaches that man has no body. This is very far from the teaching of Christian Science, which maintains that man has a body, and that this body is harmonious and beautiful in its degree that it is governed by the mind of Christ.

As in the past, so in this conception of Christian Science teaching concerning pain and weakness. While Christian Science teaches the finality of such conditions, it does so only in the sense that they are not of God and therefore have no real and permanent existence. Christian Science clearly recognizes these conditions as a part of erring mortal existence, and shows how to destroy them through an understanding of the truth taught by Jesus Christ.

Christian Scientists fully endorse the concluding paragraph of Mr. Martin's address, which reads as follows: "A man is not really cured till his character is changed, his sins pardoned and his conscience at rest. When Christ comes into the temple of a man's body, peace, joy, love and courage come in. He drives out fear, hate, worry and sin. 'Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest.' I am come that they might have life and that they might have it more abundantly."

The Christian Science text book, "Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures," clearly sets forth that before man can enjoy health and happiness he must overcome all that is unlike God.

Sincerely yours,
WILLIAM E. BROWN.

COVINA, CAL., JUNE 19, 1909.

The Wave Changes Ownership.

With its present issue the Covina
Wave has changed ownership.

The Argus has no kind words or regrets to express at the passing of C.
C. Mann, its former editor and proprietor. His reprehensible style of journalism has been a discredit to the fraternity. For the individual and the product of his mind the Argus has nothing but an unutterable contempt.

The new proprietors of the Wave
are young men who need little introduction to the citizens of Covina.
William Whitaker, a young orange grower with up-to-date ideas of business, is to be the financial and advisory end of the new firm, a man who has many friends in this locality.
H. C. Libby will attend to matters of news and the editing. Mr. Libby has been connected with a local real estate firm for some time. He has shown himself to be a good fellow in many ways, has assisted materially in building up one of the best baseball teams in the county, and stands well in the opinion of his fellows. The mechanical portion of the paper will be attended to by E. C. Mathews, who is at present the local manager of the Pacific Light and Power Company.
It is understood that he has a good working knowledge of the general
making up of a newspaper.

The Argus gives them greeting, hoping that their venture may be financially remunerative and pleasant in every way.

Senator Flint Says It Is a Pleasure to Serve California Lemon Growers.

We are in receipt this week of the following letter from Senator Frank P. Flint:

United States Senate,
June 11, 1909.

My Dear Mr. Matthews:

I have received a marked copy of the "Covina Argus" of date June 5th, containing your editorial entitled "A Senator Worth Having," and also an article regarding Democratic Central Committeeman Welch renouncing his political faith and declaring that henceforth he will ally himself with the Republican party.

Many thanks for your kind expressions concerning myself in this editorial. It was only a pleasure to me to be able to be of some service to the people of California in this matter,
and I trust that the additional duty
will enable the lemon growers to obtain a fair profit upon their capital,
time and labor invested in this industry.

I am also glad to know that my efforts have resulted in causing at least one good citizen of your community to acknowledge the error of his way and come into the ranks of the Republican party.

Yours truly,
FRANK P. FLINT.

Demurrage on Cars.

A new law goes into effect immediately concerning the box cars on all railroads in the state, and attention is called to it, as it is of importance to the ranchers of this vicinity.
Demurrage to the amount of six dollars each day is to be charged on all tank cars after the first twenty-four hours. Box cars after the first twenty-four hours will be subject to a demurrage of three dollars each day, and after the first day six dollars. It will be well to bear this in mind.

Popular Young Couple to Wed.

The marriage is announced for Sunday, June 20, of Miss Mae Mason to Mr. Charles Stevens, both popular young people of this city. The ceremony will occur at the residence of Mrs. S. W. Gage at an early hour and following a wedding at the home of the groom's parents the young people will leave on a wedding trip to Long Beach.

The Cardinal—Great.

You who went to high school ten years ago—if you don't believe that times have changed, take a glance at the periodical put out by the student body of Covina High School at the close of this term, glance through the Cardinal, and wonder at the strides that have been taken in school work. In the first place the book is a decided triumph of the printer's art
as understood by the Argus Publishing Company. Clean linotype, free from error, and halftones of photographs that are clear with features well brought out, are some of the things to be mentioned in the purely mechanical. Altogether its appearance is handsome.

The subject matter is brighter than it ever was before. Arthur Bixby's short story is a little gem of its kind. Walter Aschenbrenner's talk on "World Power" is serious and instructive. The little quips and jests, little thrusts at members of the student body and faculty are refreshing. The Cardinal during the coming year will be edited by Arthur Bixby. The present staff is composed of Walter Aschenbrenner, editor-in-chief; Alice Atwood, associate editor;
Aibine Power, associate editor; Adah
Waye, personals; Walter Hepner, athletics; Arthur Bixby, exchanges;
Myra Burpee, school news; Leslie
Shipway, debating news; Waldo
Demis, artist; Hoyt Leisure, business manager; Irven Reynolds, subscription agent. The retiring force, while spending heavily for the current number, leave the Cardinal in good financial condition for the coming year.

Regarding Insurance.

Austin Warner, a Covina insurance writer, has received a communication copied from the underwriter's report of San Francisco, in which it states that another mutual insurance company has gone to the wall, and that still another is in the field in California soliciting business. The article deals with the collapse of the Pacific
Fire Insurance Company of Seattle.
This concern was organized under the laws of Washington, and after an existence of less than two years became unable to pay its obligations, and a receiver was appointed. Under the laws of Washington, policy holders of a mutual company may be assessed for five times an annual premium to provide funds for conducting the company's business. The receiver of the defunct company has called upon past and present policy holders to pay something like $75,000 to settle debts. The report goes on to say that another company, the Northwestern Mutual, organized under the same laws, is now attempting to do business in California, and it is alleged that this company has no license to do business in this state.

For Permanent Homes.

G. W. Campbell has sold through
D. W. MacDonald of the Edwards & Willey Realty Company, five acres of oranges on Citrus avenue below Rowland avenue, to G. L. Armstrong of Fillmore. The consideration is $11,- 000. The property has a modern 9-house, fitted with gas and all up-to-date appliances. Mr. Armstrong recently purchased 10 acres of oranges
in the new vicinity and wishes the additional five acres with house to make his permanent home.

D. W. MacDonald has also sold the seven and one-half acres known as the Hastings place on Rowland avenue, owned by James H. Hunt, to A.
L. Holly of Whittier, who buys to make a permanent home. Five acres of this ranch is planted to navel and the remainder to Valencia. The consideration was $11,500. In this transaction was exchanged a residence in Whittier valued at $3,000.

Notice of Dissolution.

Mrs. L. D. Graham, having purchased the rights and holdings in the firm of Webb & Graham, milliners, in the City of Covina, Los Angeles County, formerly held and owned by Miss Lulu Webb, now assumes a place in partnership of the firm, which is to be known henceforth as the firm of Gillmore and Graham. All accounts due the former firm are payable to the new firm. All indebtedness outstanding at time of dissolution will be assumed in part by the retiring partner and in part by the firm of Gillmore & Graham. 6-26

Price Never Changed.

The Rev. Simon Turple was an eloquent speaker, but he seemed to have a list of sermons which, when he once began, he went right through to the end and then started at the first sermon again, and so on.

A young man in the congregation
was about to leave for South Africa,
but the Sunday before he departed he attended the church service.

In the course of his lecture the minister used an illustration in which were the words, "A man can easily purchase
two sparrows for three pence."

The young man, after being absent for about three years, returned and again on the first opportunity attended divine service. Strange to say, he heard the same narrative by the same minister, the phrase striking him most being about the "two sparrows for three pence."

At the close of the service the minister, in his courtesy, came and shook hands with the youth and, welcoming him back to his home, asked him if he noticed any changes about the place.

The young man, evidently quite unconcerned, replied, "Aye, man, there's two or three changes, but there's yin thing I can see—the price o' sparrows is aye at the same auld figger."—Glasgow News.

New Use For Wheelbarrows.

Mrs. Zella Nuttall, the archaeologist, was making some excavations in Mexico. The Indians were removing the earth some distance from the point of excavation in the customary manner—that is, on a piece of coarse cloth tied between two poles, stretcher fashion, carried by two Indians. This method seemed rather laborious to Mrs. Nuttall, so she ordered several iron wheel-barrows from the city. When they arrived she turned them over to the foreman after explaining to him what they were for and how to use them.

Next day when she visited the work
the Indians had discarded their primitive perambulators and were using the bright new wheelbarrows. As each barrow was filled with earth it was piled up by two Indians, one using the handles and the other the wheel, and carried to the place where the earth was to be deposited. All efforts to get the Indians to use the wheel-barrows properly failed, and they kept on carrying them until the work was finished.

Alphabet of the Playhouse.

"We keep learning things all the time," said an infrequent theater goer.
"I stopped in front of a theater the other day to buy a ticket of a speculator, and I asked him if he had a good single near the front."

"Here's one in O," he said, "thirteenth row, third seat from the aisle."
"Now, you know, I don't carry the relative positions of the letters of the alphabet in my mind all the time. I have to work for a living and have other things to think of. But it struck me that O must be farther down the line than thirteen, and so I just counted up the letters on my finger tips, and I made O come fifteenth, and I said so to the ticket man, but that didn't worry him any."

"There's no A in this theater," he said, "and there's no I in any orchestra in town."
"And, having my finger tip figuring thus handily knocked out, I bought the ticket."—Washington Post.

The Surprise of Silivitsa.

"I have never quite made out," says
a writer in "Near East," "why the plum of Silivitsa has come to be regarded as the scene of one of the great decisive battles of the world's history. It did not even decide the Servo-Bulgarian war in 1885. That was decided by Austria intervention. The battle of Silivitsa is really only remarkable for the comical fact that both sides thought they were defeated, and while Milan of Serbia was hurrying home in confusion Alexander of Bulgaria galloped all the way back to his capital before he learned that the tide had turned. Nowadays the village looks sleepy enough, poor and dirty, like most Bulgarian villages, but almost gay when the sun shines upon its red roofs."

Harsh Music.

The politician caught with the goods
was counseled by his friends to stay and face the music.

For an instant he listened to the clamor of denunciation.

"Great Scott," he exclaimed impatiently, "do you call that music?"
A moment later he was out of hearing.—Philadelphia Ledger.

How Rows Begin.

"Hubby, I dreamed last night that you didn't love me."
"How foolish you are!"
"Foolish, am I? As if I could help
what I dream about!"
And the fricns was on. Louisville
Courier-Journal.

What Kept Him

"Why couldn't you have come home at a reasonable hour?" remarked an angry wife to her spouse

"Could, n' dear, jes easy as not, but I-b-he was waitin' for you t' go t'
shoop!" replied the delinquent.

Soon Gets Over It.

"What is the honeymoon, pa?"
"Well, the honeymoon is the only period in a man's life during which he considers it funny to come home and find that his dear little wife hasn't dinner ready in time."

Suspicion always haunts the guilty mind. Shakespeare.

TELEPHONE MANAGERS ENTER- TAINED.

Important Business Session Followed By Auto Ride and Banquet.

That the business eye of the Home Telephone Company is directed with favor toward Covina and its environs was shown on Saturday evening, when thirty-five of the superintendents and managers of this big company gathered at a banquet at the Hotel Vendome and discussed the possibilities for extension of lines, not only in this vicinity, but throughout the territory of the company from San Diego to Santa Barbara. Nearly every town in Southern California was represented by its resident telephone manager or by his proxy, and an outline of the extensions to be made was thoroughly discussed at the business meeting which was held prior to the banquet of the evening. This big, embracing system of Home Telephone companies is organized under the incorporated name of the California Independent Telephone Association, and includes not only the splendid Home system in Los Angeles, but all Home systems throughout the southern part of the state.

OFFICIALS CHOSEN.

At the business meeting in the afternoon the following officers were chosen for the following term: President, Arthur Wright, Los Angeles; first vice-president, D. S. Parker, Pomona; second vice-president, E. P. Murphy, Los Angeles; secretary, A. Wardman, Whittier; treasurer, W. L. Frow, Compton; executive committee, J. D. Holmes of Pasadena, C. H. Temple of Los Angeles, A. E. Madison of Santa Barbara, and J. O. Houser of Covina; advisory committee, A. B. Cass of Los Angeles, K. C. Wells of Redlands, E. A. Powell of San Bernardino, Albert Skolowski, Santa Monica.

At this business meeting plans were discussed concerning the advisability of using eucalyptus timber for poles in place of the present timber, and a long discussion took place in connection with the extension of lines into country districts, which was found to be the topic for which the members were very much in favor. Work is to be handled as rapidly as is expedient, in connecting the outlying country with the cities of Southern California, and it was the spirit of the meeting to make all service as highly efficient as lay in the power of the company.

THE BANQUET.

Following an extended tour of Covina in automobiles, in which the ladies who came with the managers participated, the large party congregated at the Hotel Vendome, and at 3 o'clock sat down to the banquet prepared for them. President Arthur Wright of Los Angeles took his place at the head of the table as toastmaster, and as the couples were served, the speeches of the evening were enjoyed. Mayor E. H. Lahee of Covina, guest of honor, opened the speech making with some very happy reminiscences. Mayor Lahee's drop higher when on his feet at a banquet table has earned him considerable popularity. He possesses the rare faculty of saying the right thing in the most convincing manner. The mayor was full of remembrances of the telephone of earlier times. When in Chicago, he said, he experienced what he considered the most remarkable incident in listening to the first long-distance message ever sent in the United States. It was the reproduction of a concert which was being given in New York city. At that time everyone, including himself, considered this machine to be nothing more than a plaything. Mayor Lahee also remembered when it cost him the sum of ten dollars to send a message of two minutes from Chicago to New York.

Following this speaker came J. L. Matthews, editor of the Argus, who responded to the toast, "The Newspaper and the Telephone," paying a tribute to the telephone in its work of assisting in dispensing news by forming it the newspaper man's best friend. In concluding his remarks, Mr. Matthews prophesied that this entire country surrounding the city of Covina would be covered with lines in a few years, so that Covina would be the distributing center for a vast area of country under a thoroughly efficient system.

PRaises RAPID GROWTH.

D. S. Parker, vice-president of the organization, from Pomona, paid tribute to the rapidity with which the country surrounding Covina has improved in the past few years. Mr. Parker recollected a visit to Covina in the early days, when there was nothing but a blacksmith shop and one store to constitute a village, and only a few straggling residences. He then spoke of the miles of citrus groves through which he had ridden that afternoon. He attributed the growth of Covina to three causes, the indomitable energy of the citizens, the splendid climate, soil and water of the locality, and the assistance which had given impetus to growth by the Covina Home Telephone Company. He also spoke of the growth of the neighboring city of Azusa, and of the fine plant which the telephone company has installed there, speaking of it as being many times larger and better equipped than the present business warranted, but which would be of value as the country grew and business increased.

ADDRESS OF ATTORNEY.

The principal address of the evening was delivered by Robert G. Loucks of Pomona, at one time city attorney of that town, and involved while in this position in a famous fight for the city against alleged encroachment upon franchise rights by the Sunset telephone company. Mr. Loucks' address was largely technical, and dealt with the necessity for securing franchises for all work planned, from state and city, thus to place all improvements and extensions on an honest basis, under the franchise laws of the state.

The banqueters reached a conclusion of the program at 10 o'clock and returned to Los Angeles on the special car of the Pacific Electric railway. The management of Hotel Vendome is to be congratulated on the excellence of the banquet and the taste displayed in the decorations of the table and dining room.

The next meeting will be held in Santa Monica.

The following delegates and ladies were present:

E. J. Anderson, Redlands, San R. Hedley, Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. A. Kellar, Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Miller, Compton, D. S. Parker, Pomona, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Powell, San Bernardino, J. J. Pendergast, Redlands, Mrs. Olive L. Spencer, Los Angeles, A. J. Shepard, Compton, A. C. Schepetzer, Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Walton, Compton, Mr. and Mrs. A. Wardman, Whittier, Arthur Wright, Los Angeles, Mr. Ellis, Los Angeles, Mr. Wendell, Los Angeles, Mrs. Maud Tomlinson, Whittier, Mr. and Mrs. Moore, Whittier, E. Foster, Los Angeles, C. C. Pyle, Los Angeles, R. C. Reed, Los Angeles, J. L. Collett, Los Angeles, Robert G. Loucks, Los Angeles.

Local guests present were Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cushman, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Potter, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Griswold, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Houser, Mr. E. H. Lahee, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Houser, Misses Hotel, Irwin and McVea.

LETTER OF APPRECIATION.

California Independent Telephone Association.

June 15, 1909.
Mr. J. O. Houser, Mr. Frank Wright, Covina Home Telephone Company, Covina, Cal.

Gentlemen: On behalf of the Association, I hereby wish to extend to you and the directors of your company and those who helped to entertain us, the delegates, in your city on June 12th, the thanks of all those present. The inspection of the plants, and particularly the auto rides, were a source of much pleasure to each and everyone of those present, and in fact this part of it has been the best we have ever had. The banquet was all that could be expected and I wish that you would thank everyone who was interested, including the hotel people, for the many favors shown.

With best wishes for the success of your company and the community in general, I am,

Yours truly,
A. WARDMAN, Sec'y.

Fraternal Aid Installs Officers.

The members of the Fraternal Aid Association spent an evening with friends last Monday at the A.O.U.W. hall. The officers proved themselves royal entertainers. The following officers were installed: Past-president, E. B. Blackmore; president, J. W. Keefer; vice-president, Mrs. Olive Nash; secretary, P. L. Nash; treasurer, C. H. Stanton; chaplain, Miss Lena Cameron; guide, Mrs. Mildred Crouse; observer, Miss Blanche Crouse; sentinel, Frank A. Swallow; trustees, S. M. Goodwin, J. P. Chaver, C. E. Blanchard.

After the installation service was over a short program was rendered, consisting of: Vocal solos, W. A. Packard; readings, Mrs. M. Packard and Frank A. Swallow; piano solos, Mrs. Mildred Crouse and Everett Blanchard. A number of games were indulged in and much merriment occasioned by old-fashioned bean bag contests. Guessing games were also held. Mrs. Olive Nash carrying off the prize, a carnation vase. The next was a test of memory. Mrs. Mildred Crouse securing first prize. Ice cream was served to the guests.

G. P. TRACKS FOR TROLLEY?

Pacific Electric May Reach Pomona That Way.

That the Pacific Electric railway will run its cars from Los Angeles to Pomona within the next two months, using the tracks of the Southern Pacific, from a point just east of Covina, is regarded as a certainty. Local railroad officials do not verify the rumor, though admitting that the project is feasible. Electrifying of less than ten miles of the Southern Pacific between Riddick and Pomona, is part of the reported scheme.

Within the last few days the Pacific Electric has displayed a wonderful activity in completing its city lines at Pomona. Work was started on these lines about two years ago, but it came to a sudden stop and no cars were run. Now it is announced that the lines are to be placed in operation at an early date.

While there will be considerable local travel on the city lines, the company has held in contemplation a connection with the Covina line for through traffic and it is believed the plan now proposed is the one that has been adopted.

It has been reported also that the Pacific Electric has returned to the original owners the deeds to rights of way between Covina and San Dimas, a portion of the route over which it was thought the electric line would run.

As originally surveyed, the line by way of San Dimas passed through many extensive orange orchards, some instances to the great damage of entire ranches. Contributions to the right of way fund were not made by San Dimas people—at least not in any considerable amount—because the trolley line would be at such distance from the town as to be of little benefit. For the same reason, it is said, Lordsburg gave no assistance.

The cost of the right of way would have been tremendous, and now, if reports are to be believed, the Pacific Electric does not want this route.

As Mr. Harriman controls the trolley line, and has a piece of steam road that seems to lend itself admirably to electrification, there seems to be a good foundation for the rumor that Pomona at last, and quickly, is to have direct connection with Los Angeles by electric car.

The portion of the Southern Pacific mentioned in the scheme is what is known as the Covina branch. It is the northerly line of two that branch from the east main line at Bassett, both joining again at Pomona.

FEW STEAM TRAINS.

Only a few steam trains are run daily over the Covina branch; the heavy overland trains pass over the other branch, touching Puente, Lemon, Spadra, and other small towns. The grades are not so heavy on the latter branch as on the line through Covina.

According to the rumor, a connection of the Pacific Electric and Southern Pacific lines would be made at Riddick, one mile east of Covina. From that point it is a run of nine miles to Pomona, passing through Charter Oak, San Dimas and Lordsburg.

If the Southern Pacific line were to be used by the trolley company, it is said the few steam trains now using the track might continue in operation.

Even if the steam trains were to be taken from the line, the trolley road would have no difficulty in handling all the freight business, as the steam and trolley lines now interchange cars at many points.

So far as passenger traffic is concerned, it is more than likely that residents of the towns along the Covina branch of the Southern Pacific would welcome the change. Instead of two passenger trains each way a day, they might have an electric car every two hours or less.—Los Angeles Times.

THISTLES PLAY POORLY.

New Shortstop Makes Hit With Fans.
Russell Pitches Good Ball.

The Thistles of Los Angeles that were supposed to have a good baseball team, after playing all season in the winter league, made a very pitiable showing against the locals last Sunday. The score of 21 to 1 is a very good indication of what kind of an exhibition it was. But for the snappy work of Pfeister, who went in to play short for the locals in the seventh, the fans would have had very little to comment on. Pfeister has captained the Mairs team all winter, and the way he scooped a grounder right through second base and shot it to first was a revelation after the succession of miscues that had come before.

Russell was in the box for Covina. The way he slammed them across was too much for any of the Thistles, and the five scratchy hits they gathered were only good for one run with the help of two errors. Siegel, who did the twirling for the visitors, was an open book after the boys had become used to his wide outs. Stewart, Montague and Kendall were the only men that could not connect safely.

In the seventh a new battery was substituted by Captain Kendall. Fullagar went on the mound, and Stout caught.

The Thistles gathered one hit in the eighth.

The sixth was the big inning. By the time it was over, half the crowd had hurried to shelter. The locals made eight hits and scored thirteen times. The city players had long since given up and did not try to put up a contest. If the Thistles had been able to hit the ball, the result might have been different, as the locals did not freeze solidly to half the offerings that went past the pitcher.

Mrs. Damethila Cohn.
Many residents of this valley will regret to learn of the death of Mrs. Damethila Cohn, which took place in Los Angeles June 12th. Mrs. Cohn came to this valley twenty years ago and resided at the corner of Azusa and Cypress avenues. She built the handsome residence on this property, which was for many years the show place of the vicinity. For the last five years she has made her home in Los Angeles. Although she had been in poor health for the last year, her death was unexpected. She is survived by her husband, Julius B. Cohn, and three children, Charles McCreary, Ida McCreary and Thomas M. McCreary. The funeral was held at the family residence, 2686 Menlo avenue, Monday morning. Interment was made at Calvary cemetery.

Roy Brubaker spent last week-end with his brother, H. S. Brubaker, of Upland.

The Menzies Shoe Company of Detroit, Mich., were the originators of Elk Tannage and the first shoe manufacturers to use it. As soon as they demonstrated its wonderful wearing and comfort qualities, others imitated it immediately. These imitations may look just the same as the genuine MENZ "EASE" but that's as far as the resemblance goes.

In the Saturday Evening Post and the American Boy magazine you will find MENZ "EASE" Outing Shoes advertised by the makers ((The Menzies Shoe Company of Detroit, Michigan). They tell you to look for the name on the sole and on yellow silk label. We can show you these proofs of quality—others in this town can't.

GUPTILL.

There is not a shoe man in the broad land who does not consider himself fortunate if he secures the Guptill line of ladies' turned slippers, and we have been especially fortunate, as Harry Guptill does not as a rule sell any firm in cities of less than 25,000. These fine shoes, selling from $2.50 to $6.00, are really works of art, and we wish every lady who appreciates fine shoes to call and let us show them.

THE SUN RENOVATES AN OSTERMOOR MATTRESS

The Ostermoor is built (not stuffed) of elastic, fibrous Ostermoor sheets—germ-proof and vermin-proof. We know there is no mattress on earth "just-as-good" as the Ostermoor, and we are exclusive agents for your protection against worthless substitutes. Come to us for the genuine Ostermoor—a masterpiece of comfort. Order one.

Nothing but an occasional sun-bath is needed to keep an Ostermoor Mattress thoroughly renovated. It can't possibly get dirty inside. And if the tick gets soiled—soap and water and a brush cleans it. Why sleep on a mattress filled with dead animal hair? The very fact that it needs picking to pieces to clean it of dirt (and the germs stick to) should be enough to sicken one against it, for

COMMENCEMENT WEEK AT COVINA SCHOOLS

TWENTY-TWO GRADUATES RECEIVE DIPLOMAS.

Covina Union High's Commencement a Notable Function.
Dr. Hugh K. Walker's Masterful Address Thrilled and Electrified His Hearers.

Banked behind gorgeous flowers, beneath the arch of the choir-loft of the Presbyterian Church, facing a thousand people of the Covina valley, the class of 1909 of the Covina Union High School received the highest honors in the gift of the city last night, when diplomas of honorable and efficient graduation were presented to twenty-two young men and women who had climbed to this enviable height in their progress through life. In this, the tenth Commencement program since the inception of the city, the graduating class and the assisting scholars of the school, reached a higher point of efficiency than in former years, as the program was more diversified and therefore more enjoyable. The crowded house responded to each number on the program with a fervor which was the finest of testimony of the appreciation of the exercises.

The high school orchestra, under the direction of Prof. R. W. Groom, occupied seats in the rear of the choir loft, and as the graduates marched to the seats awaiting them, a spirited two-step was played, bringing out applause from the audience. After the graduating class was seated, selections from "Martha" were rendered by the orchestra. The invocation by Rev. S. W. Gage of the Baptist Church followed, after which a trombone solo by Walter Aschenbrenner, accompanied by the full orchestra, was rendered. Mr. Aschenbrenner played Schubert's serenade, and his rendition of this beautiful song was smooth and in perfect time. The finely modulated accompaniment of the orchestra was a feature of the number.

Prof. A. Harvey Collins, who, as retiring principal of the school, had charge of the evening's exercises, introduced Rev. Dr. Hugh K. Walker, pastor of the Emmanuel Presbyterian Church of Los Angeles, as speaker of the evening.

Dr. Walker is well known and appreciated in Covina, inasmuch as he delivered the commencement address to the scholars two years ago. His words were a burning message to the audience as well as to the twenty-two graduates, and Dr. Walker's magnificent delivery made of his words a lesson not immediately forgotten.

As is his wont on such an occasion, Dr. Walker delivered a straightforward address, not a sermon. He took as his subject, "Character That Wins a Crown." Out of this fruitful theme he wove a tale of prophecy, of warning, of optimism and of philosophy such as kept his hearers entirely within his power for fifty minutes.

The men of destiny, he said, were those who did not seek for the crown placed there by their fellows in recognition of their great works, although the crowns offered by men were to be desired. The greatest men of ancient and modern times often went to their graves without ever having heard the plaudits of their fellowmen. Prominent in the history of America, he said, is the case of the discoverer of this continent, Christopher Columbus, who toiled and pleaded with people for this end, thought out his own daring plans, and then died in terrible straits, while the country he discovered was named after a man who came after him, who usurped his crown and received the greater portion of the glory.

The "reason pessimist" or the age of "reasoning pessimism" is upon us at the present time, the speaker said. This, as differentiated from the sentimental pessimist and the man who is pessimistic because the dark side always appeal to him, is the pessimism of the present day of men who have become cultured beyond the pale of the older days when individuals were not so equal in culture. He warned the scholars against this condition of pessimistic reasoning, exhorting them to cling to the highest ideals and go onward and upward although others may sneer and claim that the height has already been reached. There were cultured men, he said, who claimed today that oratory was a thing of the past, that men and women have become too cultured to care for the kind of oratory which appeals as did the great orators of a century gone, and the speaker said that there was a grain of truth in this as there always was in the argument of the reasoning pessimist, but again told the audience and graduates to rise above this short-sighted view of the culturists.

The character that wins a crown is the one which sticks to the ideal above all the clamoring of the common crowd, the speaker said, whether this character was to be won through the one profession or another. The lawyer must strive for this highest ideal of true endeavor, or fail in his seeking for a crown, the minister must not think that he may be beset by sin and fall in his high endeavor, and so on through every walk of life. At this point Dr. Walker made a strong plea that men of culture and ability enter the pulpit, stating that what the world needs today is stronger men in the ministerial profession, men who can ably walk in the footsteps of the great divines of half a century ago.

In making his peroration, Dr. Walker spoke affectingly of the necessity for every young man and woman to commit themselves to God ere the battle for the crown of character was begun. The battle might be won by this commitment to God, he said, for without this, the crown could never be won to its fullest extent and meaning.

Dr. Walker's address received a veritable ovation at its termination. The intermezzo "Morning Star" was played delicately and with expression by the orchestra, after which Prof. Collins conducted the ceremony of the presentation of the class. The conferring of the diploma is then took place. Rev. S. W. Funk, president of the board of trustees, made an address, after which the diplomas were handed to each of the graduates. The distribution of remembrances proved to be a most popular affair. The graduates were literally buried in flowers of the most gorgeous kind.

FACULTY RECEPTION.

Through the courtesy of Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Reed the Seniors were entertained by the faculty in the spacious home of the former on Badillo street last Monday evening. In acknowledgment of "flag day" bunting, flags and the national colors were employed in the decorative scheme. An amusement of the evening was a progressive picture puzzle game, the tables being named after celebrated forts, and flags were used as tables. Miss Laura Lunnus, the class teacher, who will leave the scholastic profession and enter the state of holy matrimony soon, was presented with a silver berry spoon. Ice cream, ices and waters were served. About thirty were present.

REED ORATORICAL CONTEST.

Splendid Addresses by All Contestants...Shipway Meritoriously Received First Place...All Contestants Show Careful Training and Conscientious Work.

The gift of "speaking on your feet," said to be a decadent art since Daniel Webster placed his high stamp on orations, was given a decided awakening at the Presbyterian Church Thursday evening, when the five contestants in the Reed oratorical contest strove for honors and prizes. No branch of the work of the high schools seems to bring out the results of the four years work as does the finished speech in public, and the addresses on this occasion were well written and rendered. Especial care had been given by all to adhere to the most exacting terms of English diction. The manner of enunciating, stage presence and gesticulation shown by these five contestants, proved that their training had been careful and their application conscientious. Mrs. Gilmore, elocutionary instructor, may well be proud of the work of these pupils.

Walter Aschenbrenner had as his subject, "A Plea for More Centralized Government." This subject was an ambitious one, and was handled with a power which showed application to political text books, and a wide range of general reading pertaining to this country of ours. Walter Hepner's subject, "Oneness of Aim" brought forth much favorable comment, as the subject matter seemed to lie closely to the author's heart. Hepner's delivery was strong and his manner of driving home facts was forceful. The semi-poetic address by Arthur Bixby on "Silent Forces" was in a way one of the best on the program, for this young man has learned to sit at the feet of the Muses, and a fragment of poetical wisdom is dropped to him from time to time.

The one to whom the first prize offered by Dr. J. D. Reed was awarded was Leslie Shipway, whose forceful summary of "Roosevelt, the Man," gave him the prize easily. Shipway's address was full of the force which emanates from this great American. While Shipway spoke in highest terms of the splendid work accomplished by Roosevelt, the feature of the address was his discriminating criticism of some of the flagrant faults of this impetuous man.

Miss Abiline Power spoke on "Father Junipero Serra," and of the early days of the Spanish missions. Miss Power has very marked histrionic ability and a pleasing stage presence. Much of her address was of interest to the audience on account of its intimate study of the early days. Leslie Shipway was given first prize, Walter Aschenbrenner, second, prize, and Abiline Power, third prize. The judges were A. C. Wheat, assistant superintendent of Los Angeles County schools, V. S. Goldthwaite and Mr. F. F. Fanning of Glendora. There were only fifteen points between the highest and the lowest award. The musical numbers were especially fine, among which were: Quartet, "When Day Fades," by Misses Mabel Houser, Ethel and Lola Keefer and Gertrude Hulce; solo, "Carmena," by Gertrude Hulce; duet, Miss Houser, flute, and Charles Walters, horn; saxophone duet, Wallace Reed and Walter Hepner.

BACCALAUREATE SERMON.

The baccalaureate sermon, preached to the graduating class of the high school by Rev. Paul G. Stevens at the Presbyterian Church Sunday evening, was heard by a crowded house. The students occupied seats in the front of the church. Music was furnished by the high school orchestra.

Rev. Mr. Stevens took his text from Luke, "Is Not the Life More Than Meat, and the Body Than Raiment?" His subject was "Making a Living and Making a Life." The speaker said that it required no wide and extended experience, no profound analysis of human life to discover that it is made up of two distinct and yet dependent factors, namely, body and soul, flesh and spirit. Discussing these two phases of life the speaker said: "The longer we live the more we respect the claims of our physical being. Those whose aspirations are all appetites and whose ambitions never rise above them are indeed very low animals. We cannot live by bread alone. Neither can we live without bread. Jesus Christ, in framing his model prayer inserted petitions for both the body and the soul. 'Give us this day our daily bread,' and also 'Forgive our sins.' With this prayer before us, and with the thoughts and expressions common to us all confirming needs of such petitions, we are justified in saying that making a living is one thing and making a life another."

"The sole purpose of making a living is that it may help to make life. If it does not do this it is worse than wasted. For the hour cometh when the artificial things of life, the lines of station, the temporal and perishable will be swept away, and when life ends the soul will be left, shorn of all its embellishments and clothed absolutely in the reality. We shall then see as we did not see before, that the making of a life is infinitely more important than the making of a living."

CLASS DAY EXERCISES.

Senior class day exercises took place Wednesday evening at 8 p. m. and were bright and interesting throughout. As admission was by ticket the large crowd of former times was considerably thinned. The other classes of course were in noisy evidence, but were quite as orderly as could be expected. The scene opened with "roll call." Miss Aschenbrenner, presiding, called the names and each Senior responded with a quotation personally applicable to one of the Juniors.

The class songs were lively and tuneful and the yells attested to the increasing size of our high school classes.

The poem by Miss Aschenbrenner, the prophecy by Miss Burpee, the will by Walter Hepner and the history by Walter Aschenbrenner, were full of wit and interest.

MUSICAL.

At 2 p. m. on Thursday in the high school auditorium, some very excellent music was rendered, prepared by the ladies' chorus of the high school, the orchestra and the band, under the direction of Prof. Groom.

The choruses were, "Come to the Woodland" (Crom), "Flag of the Free" (Vagners), "The Night Bells" (Vincent), "Let the Hills Resound" (Richards), "Anvil Chorus from Il Trovatore" (Verdi). Perhaps the last two, which went with great vim, were most popular, but they were all very good.

The orchestra gave some beautiful selections in excellent style. "Berlin in Joy and Sorrow" (Coudadi), a beautiful tone poem; Mexican dance "Dark Eyes" (Moreno) with castanets, bright and pleasing; intermezzo from "Cavalleria Rusticana" (Mascagni), the beautiful favorite with Mr. Philico and his violin.
